INSULTED.

Angry Parishioners Compel the Papal Delegate to Hear Them.

FORCIBLY ENTER THE HOUSE.

When He Rofuses to Listen to Them a Leader Becomes Defiant.

TURNING AWAY, SATOLLI FALLS.

Tripped by His Mantle, but the Ablegate Is Not Severely Injured.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 20.-The determination of the parishioners of St. Joseph's Church to have their pastor, Rev. Dr. S. B. Smith, removed, has made the visit of Mgr. Satolii more painful than pleasant.

olic Club called at the pastoral resi-dence to-day, where the papal delegate is being entertained as the guest of Dr. Smith. Miss Smith, the doctor's sister, appeared at the door. Edward F. Leonard and Richard Simon led the committee. They informed Miss Smith that they desired to see Mgr. Satolli, but were told that he could not be seen. "But we must see him," answered Mr. Leonard, as he forced the door open and the committee filed into the

Dr. Papi, the ablegate's secretary, came downstairs and told the com tee that Satolli could not see them, but the representatives of the parishioners arride such a demonstration that Sa-tolli finally made his appearance, bowing and smilling.

Ex-Street Commissioner Gibson and Thomas McNamara stood guard at the door, it is said, so that Satolli could not leave in a hurry.

The Committee gave notice of its basics.

The Committee gave notice of its hission.

"Weil that is all settled," the ablegate replied, inferring that he had concluded to take no more notice of the complaints against Dr. Smith.

The committee reminded Satolli of his promise to make a settlement in the condition of affairs at St. Joseph's Church, and spoke with much emphasis of the remissness of the charges against the pastor.

In a fit of passion Satolli replied:

"Well, snyhow, you insulted me at Washington by bringing an apostate," and the abbegate forced his way from the room, and in doing so he tripped on his mantle and fell against the banister. Before he could recover himself James Gibson had freed his mind.

"Is this the line of conduct you intend to pursue." he said.

"You will make more apostates. You come here as the guest of a man who

"If the committeemen of St. Joseph's parishioners had not taken this matter in hand you would perhaps have a babiling srowd who would tear down this house over the miserable pastor's head."

Batolii hastened upstairs, and the committee returned to the rooms of the Catholic Club. It was resolved to call a meeting of the parishioners for 7.30 o'clock to-morrow night to determine what action will be taken.

Satolii offered mass in St. Joseph's Church at 8 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock he took a drive through the city, inspecting some of the silk mills. He will dine with Dr. Smith this afternoon, and a number of local clergymen have been invited, but it is believed that some of them will ignore the invitation.
